Solution

1.

Ans: (d) Only R is true, A is false

Explanation:

Subhash Chandra Bose did aim to establish a socialist state, so the reason (R) is true. However, the Forward Bloc did not specifically aim to abolish the Zamindari system, so the assertion (A) is false.

Thus, the correct option is (d).

Ans: (d) To train and organise public opinion in the country

Explanation:

The objectives of the Indian National Army (INA) included:

- Establishing a provisional government of Free India
- Mobilising manpower and money for the struggle
- Promoting unity, faith, and sacrifice

Training or organising public opinion within the country was not an objective of the INA, as its focus was external military action to liberate India.

Thus, the correct option is (d).

3.

Ans: Subhash Chandra Bose became the Supreme Commander of the Indian National Army (INA) in 1943.

4.

Ans:

(i) Three objectives of the Forward Bloc:

1. Complete Independence: To achieve full and immediate freedom from British rule.
2. Revolutionary Socialism: To build a socialist society based on equality and social justice.

- 3. Mobilisation of the Masses: To unite different sections of society—peasants, workers and youth—against British rule.

(ii) Three contributions of Subhash Chandra Bose:

- 1. Formation of the INA: He reorganised and led the Indian National Army to fight the British through military action.
- 2. Inspirational Leadership: He inspired millions with the slogan “Give me blood, and I will give you freedom”, boosting nationalist spirit.
- 3. Advocacy of Armed Struggle: He emphasised armed resistance as the path to complete independence, unlike non-violent methods.

(iii) Founder of the INA and its three objectives:

Subhash Chandra Bose was the founder of the Indian National Army (INA).

Three objectives of the INA:

- 1. Liberation of India: To free India from British rule by military means.
- 2. Mobilisation of Soldiers: To recruit and organise Indian soldiers and expatriates for the struggle.
- 3. Establishment of Independent Government: To set up a sovereign government in India after freedom.

Ans:

(i) Inspiring Nationalism: The INA, under Subhash Chandra Bose, created a strong spirit of nationalism and unity among Indians, motivating them to fight for freedom.

(ii) Challenging British Rule: The INA’s military actions weakened British authority and boosted popular support for the independence movement.

Ans:

(i) The person in the picture is Subhash Chandra Bose.

He organised the Indian National Army (INA).

The INA was formed with the help of Indian prisoners of war and expatriates in Southeast Asia, mainly in Singapore during World War II.

(ii) The main objectives of the INA were:

1. To launch an armed struggle to overthrow British rule in India.
2. To free India by military action, since peaceful methods had failed.
3. To establish a Provisional Government of Free India after liberation.
4. To mobilise manpower and resources from Indians abroad.
5. To inspire unity, based on the motto "Unity, Faith, and Sacrifice."

Achievement:

Although the INA could not militarily free India, it greatly inspired nationalism and weakened British morale.

(iii) Contributions of the INA to India's freedom struggle:

1. Inspired Nationalism: The bravery of INA soldiers created a strong sense of patriotism and unity among Indians.
2. Symbol of Resistance: INA forces fought bravely in Southeast Asia and reached Imphal and Manipur, challenging British forces.
3. Provisional Government: On 21 October 1943, Bose proclaimed the Provisional Government of Free India and declared war on the Allies.
4. Impact of INA Trials: The trials of INA soldiers caused mass protests in India, compelling the British to avoid harsh punishments and revealing the collapse of British authority.

7.

Ans: (c) To gain Indian independence with the support of Japan.

Explanation:

One of the main aims of Subhash Chandra Bose's Indian National Army (INA) was to free India from British rule through armed struggle.

For this, Bose sought military and strategic help from Japan, which supported him in reorganising the INA and fighting against the British in Southeast Asia.

Thus, the INA aimed to achieve independence with the assistance of Japan, not to support British rule or create another colonial government.

Ans: (c) Andaman and Nicobar Islands.

Explanation:

The Provisional Government of Free India, formed by Netaji Subhash Chandra Bose in 1943, first took control of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, which were handed over by Japan.

Bose renamed them Swaraj and Shaheed and declared them as the first Indian territory to be freed from British rule.

Ans:

(i) The two slogans that became the war cry of the Indian National Army (INA) were "Jai Hind" and "Chalo Dilli".

(ii) The Andaman and Nicobar Islands were renamed as 'Shaheed' and 'Swaraj' respectively.

10.

Ans:

(i) His escape from house arrest

Subhash Chandra Bose was kept under house arrest by the British. In January 1941, he escaped secretly from his home in Calcutta and travelled through Peshawar and Russia to reach Germany. His escape boosted the morale of Indians and renewed the spirit of nationalism.

(ii) His becoming the Supreme Commander of the INA

In 1943, Bose took charge of the Indian National Army (INA) in Singapore and became its Supreme Commander. He reorganised the army and gave the call to fight for India's freedom. He also formed the Provisional Government of Free India in 1943, which was recognised by several countries, and renamed Andaman and Nicobar Islands as 'Shaheed' and 'Swaraj'.

(iii) Subhash Chandra Bose's contribution to the National Movement

- 1. Formation of the Forward Bloc: Bose formed the Forward Bloc in 1939 to unite anti-British forces and work for complete independence.
- 2. Leadership of INA: Under his leadership, the INA fought bravely against the British in the Northeast and hoisted the national flag on Indian soil for the first time.
- 3. Provisional Government of Free India: Bose set up a free Indian government-in-exile, showing that Indians were determined to rule themselves.
- 4. Inspiring Nationalism: His slogans like "Jai Hind" and "Give me blood and I will give you freedom" inspired Indians and strengthened the struggle against British rule.
