Solution

1.

Ans: (a) Mutual non-aggression

Explanation:

One of the core principles of Panchsheel is mutual non-aggression, which means that nations should respect each other's sovereignty and refrain from attacking or using force against one another. Panchsheel emphasizes peaceful coexistence and non-violence in international relations.

2.

Ans: (b) To advocate non-settlement of international disputes.

Explanation:

One of the objectives of the Non-Aligned Movement is to encourage peaceful handling of international issues by avoiding alignment with military blocs. It emphasizes independence in foreign policy and seeks to prevent disputes from escalating into conflicts by not getting involved in power-bloc politics.

3.

Ans: (b) Abdel Nasser

Explanation:

Gamal Abdel Nasser, the President of Egypt, was one of the chief architects of the Non-Aligned Movement. Along with leaders like Jawaharlal Nehru of India and Josip Broz Tito of Yugoslavia, he played a key role in promoting the policy of non-alignment during the Cold War, encouraging newly independent nations to remain independent of both the US-led and USSR-led power blocs.

4.

Ans: Jawaharlal Nehru.

5.

Ans:

(i) Vision in starting the NAM:

Jawaharlal Nehru envisaged the Non-Aligned Movement to provide newly independent countries an independent path, free from alignment with either the Western or Eastern power blocs. He believed in peaceful coexistence, national sovereignty and freedom in foreign policy decisions.

(ii) Curbing the mad race for armaments:

Nehru strongly opposed the arms race, especially nuclear weapons. He advocated global disarmament, reduction of nuclear arms and peaceful use of atomic energy. India supported nuclear test bans and non-proliferation under his leadership.

(iii) As the spokesman for newly independent countries of Asia and Africa:

Nehru championed the cause of newly freed Asian and African nations by supporting anti-colonial movements, promoting cooperation among developing countries and strengthening unity through the Non-Aligned Movement.

6.

Ans:

(i) Efforts against apartheid in South Africa:

NAM strongly opposed racial discrimination and apartheid. Its member countries condemned South Africa's racial policies, imposed diplomatic pressure and supported international action, which helped isolate the apartheid regime and contributed to its eventual abolition.

(ii) Significance in promoting international peace:

NAM worked to reduce Cold War tensions by opposing military alliances, supporting peaceful coexistence and encouraging dialogue. It emphasized non-interference, peaceful settlement of disputes and respect for sovereignty, thereby promoting global peace.

(iii) Role as a leader of the Third World:

NAM provided a collective platform for newly independent Asian, African and Latin American countries to safeguard their independence, resist dominance by superpowers and promote economic cooperation, unity and development among developing nations.
